

A New Organon

Science Studies in Poland between the Wars

Workshop, 20–21 February 2015
Kulturwissenschaftliches Kolleg Konstanz (Bischofsvilla), Otto-Adam-Str. 5, Konstanz

organized by Friedrich Cain and Bernhard Kleeberg

Friday, 20 February 2015

9:30

Friedrich Cain, Bernhard Kleeberg (Konstanz)

Introduction

9:45

Tuesday Bhambry (Berlin)

Editorial Remarks

10:00

Jan Piskurewicz, Leszek Zasztowt (Warsaw)

Science of Science in Poland before World War Two – Institutional Frames

10:45

Coffee Break

1. STUDYING AND APPLYING SCIENCE AND KNOWLEDGE

chair: Bernhard Kleeberg (Konstanz)

11:00

Łukasz Dominiak (Toruń)

International Philosophical Background of ‘Koło Naukoznawcze’ Work

11:45

Paweł Kawalec (Lublin)

The Science of Science: From Inception to Maturity

12:30

Lunch

13:30

Katrin Steffen (Lüneburg)

Science in Context. Scientific Progress, Mental Health, and the Polish Nation

14:15

Andreas Langenohl (Gießen)

Commentary, followed by discussion

15:00

Coffee Break

2. GENEALOGIES, TRANSFERS, AND RUPTURES

chair: Hannes Brandt (Konstanz)

15:30

Jan Surman (Marburg)

Language in the Deliberations of Koło Naukoznawcze

16:15

Friedrich Cain (Konstanz)

‘On a proper method for studying creativity’. Antoni B. Dobrowolski’s Archive(s) of Creative Thought

17:00

Cornelius Borck (Lübeck)

Commentary, followed by discussion

19:00

Dinner

Saturday, 21 February 2015

3. SCIENTIFIC COMMUNITIES REVISITED

chair: Friedrich Cain (Konstanz)

9:00

Olga Linkiewicz (Warsaw)

Toward Expertocracy: The Scientific Debates on Applied Knowledge in Interwar Poland

9:45

Marta Bucholc (Warsaw)

Sociogenesis of Science. On the Margins of the Proceedings of Koło Naukoznawcze

10:30

Coffee Break

11:00

Matthew Konieczny (Minneapolis)

Visions of a 'Commonwealth of Science': The Role of Warsaw's Jewish Elite in the Formation of a Modern Polish Science

11:45

Monika Wulz (Zurich)

Commentary, followed by discussion

12:30

Lunch

14:00

End